

What is Claimed is:

1. A digital video camera with instant broadcasting capability, comprising:
- a digital video camera for recording object image and audio sound and storing the digitized image and audio data;
- 5 a wireless transmission module linking to a wireless mobile communication network for the digital video camera to transmit the recording image and audio data to remote sites through the wireless mobile communication network; and
- a Subscriber Identity Module (SIM) card for storing users' Mobile Identity Number (MIN), internal code and password for enabling registered users of the
- 10 wireless mobile communication system to use the wireless mobile communication network.
2. The digital video camera of claim 1, wherein the digital video camera includes a lens, a microphone, an operation panel and a recording medium for storing the image and audio data.
- 15 3. The digital video camera of claim 1, wherein the microphone is a hidden microphone.
4. The digital video camera of claim 1, wherein the microphone is an external microphone.
5. The digital video camera of claim 4, wherein the external microphone includes an
- 20 antenna.
6. The digital video camera of claim 1, wherein the operation panel is a press button type.
7. The digital video camera of claim 1, wherein the operation panel is a touch control screen type.
- 25 8. The digital video camera of claim 1 further having an extensible liquid crystal display (LCD) device and a housing chamber for holding the LCD device.

9. The digital video camera of claim 8, wherein the housing chamber has a socket for receiving the SIM card.

10. The digital video camera of claim 1, wherein the wireless transmission module links to a Global System for Mobile communication (GSM) system.

5

FOOTNOTES